LAW.

SUPREME COURT—FRIDAY.

In the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Dickinson, and Mr. Justice Milford.

WILLIAM V. KNOX AND OTHERS.

There was an appeal from the decision of the Primary Judge, the argument in which had not terminated when the Court rose.

The Attorney-General and Mr. Broadhurst appeared for the applicant, and Mr. Murray and Mr. Blaxk for the respondents.

Before the Primary Judge.

Before the Hon. T. LANG AND OTHERS.

There was an interlocutory application for the appointment of a receiver, in a suit by the members of the Synod of Australia to restrain the Rev. Dr. Lang from exercising the functions of a minister of the Presbyterian Church, and to remove him from the possession of the church wherein he at present officiates, and of the adjacent premises, upon the ground of having been procured by him for the church and its inmates.

The statements as to facts, by bill, answer, and affidavit, were very voluminous, involving the history not only of the church and premises in question, but of the former connections between the parties, and the circumstances of the meeting in which these connections were severed, and of the causes of that severance. Also, to a certain extent, the rules, as to disciplining, prevailing in the Presbyterian Church, and the history of Presbyterian Church Government in that colony. The decrees of the Synod and of the Presbytery of Irvine were both disputed by the respondent. Dr. Lang, as irregular and unlawfully promoted, and his connection had been given as a reason of his removal in September to the proceedings of the last-named body.

The application was also resisted upon the ground that the church property in question belonged not to the Synod, but to the congregation, and that Dr. Lang had a claim for £1500 against it.

The appointment of a receiver was asked for at the time the commission was granted, but his Honor had decided that a substantive application must be made for that purpose, and that the notice of this decision that the present motion was made.

The application was supported by the Attorney-General and Mr. Broadhurst. Mr. Blaxk, Q.C., showed cause against it on the part of the defendants, with the exception of one (Mr. Ramsay, a trustee), for whom Mr. Pring appeared to submit any order that the Court might make.

His Honor rendered judgment.

In the Supreme Court.

Friday, the 18th day of July, 1856.

It is ordered that all judgments, and other documents, or matter of law or equity may be delivered on Saturday next, the 19th instant, or on any Wednesday in the ensuing vacation, on which two judges may be present for that purpose.

All documents so delivered, shall be as effectual as if delivered in the full Court.

Insolvency matters may be disposed of, and motions for judicature granted, on the next Saturday, the 19th July.

ALFRED STEPHEN,

J. N. DICKINSON,

S. H. MILFORD.

INSOLVENT COURT.

Before the Chief Commissioner of Insolvent Estates.

In the estate of Charles B. Skeld, a single meeting. One claim, £1000, was proved, and insolvent was allowed to retain his wearing apparel. Insolvent was allowed to retain possession of his furniture and stock-in-trade, to give him an opportunity of arranging his affairs.

In the estate of William Boultone, a second meeting.

Claims amounting to £235 10s. 4d. were proved, and insolvent amended his schedule, by inserting some debts which had been omitted.

In the estate of John M. Higgs, a second meeting.

GENERAL POLICE COURT.

Friday.

Before Mr. Dowling, Mr. Gordon, and Mr. Egan.

No drunkards were fined 20s. each, with the usual alternative in case of non-payment.

Robert Hendry, convicted of having made use of obscene language in a public place, was fined 20s., and Stephen Groves, found guilty of a similar offence, was sentenced to pay 40s., or, in default of payment, be sent imprisoned for seven days. George Smith and Mrs. Ann Dwyer, convicted of indecent conduct in the Cleveland Paddock, after the night, were sentenced to pay 25s. to be imprisoned for one month.

James Swemey was charged with having illegally alienated himself from the hired service of Michael Dillon of Homebush. Complainant deposed that on Tuesday last defendant, at Sydney, with a load of firewood, for sale, in his van, had been stopped by about 6 o'clock in the evening; he did not return, nor had he since him until now, in court; on Wednesday he (complainant) came to Sydney, and found him in horse and cart, but not the firewood, in the yard of a publican in Lower George-street, who said that on the previous evening he took him into his premises and seated them standing for several hours in the street, and in charge. Defendant offered no excuse for his conduct. Sentenced to be imprisoned for fourteen days.

Michael McNamara, a private of the 11th, was charged with having assaulted one Michael Doyle, who had refused to admit him into his house. The house in question was recently of ill-fame, but the then inmates had been compelled by the police to abandon the capture, but of its changed character the defendant did not attempt to make a penalty of 40s. or be imprisoned for seven days.

On the summons list were eleven cases. Mary Welsh, found guilty of having in a public place made use of obscene language, was sentenced to pay 20s. and costs, or to be imprisoned for seven days; David Hill, found guilty of Sunbury, was fined 6s.; Alfred Bradford and Charles Sharpe, for their conduct were fined 20s. each; John Young, and Stephen Groves, for having allowed their street lamps to go out, were fined 5s. each; Frederick Young, and Charles Firman, drivers of Woollomooloo omnibuses, were convicted of furious driving, and sentenced to pay 10s. each. Of the remainder, one was dismissed for want of legal proof, another through non-attendance of parties, and the third was withdrawn.

WATER POLICE COURT.

Before Mr. George Thornton.

Charles Taylor, and Bonyon Blower, convicted of drunkenness, were fined in the usual penalty of 20s., or 21 hours' imprisonment.

Robert Cassell, convicted of disorderly conduct and assaulting Caroline Cassell, was bound over, to keep the peace in his own surety of £10, and two others of £5 each.

Charles Reid, seaman, for deserting from the Scotia, was sent to gaol for 12 weeks.

John Amor, seaman, belonging to the Thistle, for desecration of orders, was sent to gaol for 14 days.

James Morris, seaman, convicted of desertion from the Rodney, was sent to gaol for 12 weeks.

FIREWORKS.—The special correspondent of the Tasmanian Advertiser says, writing from Flinders—On Specimen Hill, persons were firing a good quartz vein, which crops out at the top. They purposed following this vein until its value is ascertained. Gold gold has been found below it on the slopes of the hill, some half dozen specimens have been brought down yesterday and to-day, showing the gold in the mass. It is to this reef that the attention of the Rev. Mr. Clarke was particularly directed. He took the bearing of it at the time, and though no specimens such as we have seen, had been found, he expressed his opinion that in all probability it would pay well for crushing. He also took several pieces with him to have their worth tested. Should this reef turn out well, there are several others not far off whose appearance is equally good, and even though no markings are immediately found, I am disposed to think that the hills themselves hold in sufficient quantities to recommend the speculators could be obtained. I give my opinion that, contrariwise, because it might seem premature to form any judgment, that these small specimens. But that these same specimens were obtained on a quartz reef in Victoria, its value would be settled at once, and no further indications would be considered necessary to do so: the quartz-crusher to work it.

SILVER SPOONS SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN STOLEN.—Inspector Singleton has in his possession a quantity of silver goods, consisting chiefly of spoons of various descriptions, some with initials engraved upon them, and others with the crest of a plain plate, and there is reason to believe that they have been stolen. Persons having lost property of this description should themselves in communication with Mr. Singleton. A number of spoons were yesterday found in the water of Darling Harbour, by a boy named Golden.

THE WEATHER IN TASMANIA.—The Hobart Town Mercury of the 11th instant states—“We have not for a long time witnessed so severe a frost as that with which we are now beset. Yesterday morning, the ice in the suburbs half a mile in thickness remained for some time unthawed. Mount Wellington, a monarch of mountains, for some time since, has exhibited his ‘bright diadem of snow,’ indicating the severity of the winter within his wide domain, and have every prospect of some continuance of this fine bracing weather. It is to be hoped, however, that the crops are sufficiently advanced, and strong to bear the effects of the frost, which is not likely, we think, to continue with its present severity. We perceive, by reference to the Launceston paper, that the frost has been equally severe in the northern part of the island.”

SILVER SPOONS SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN STOLEN.—

Inspector Singleton has in his possession a quantity of silver goods, consisting chiefly of spoons of various descriptions, some with initials engraved upon them, and others with the crest of a plain plate, and there is reason to believe that they have been stolen. Persons having lost property of this description should themselves in communication with Mr. Singleton.

A number of spoons were yesterday found in the water of Darling Harbour, by a boy named Golden.

THE WEATHER IN TASMANIA.—The Hobart Town Mercury of the 11th instant states—“We have not for a long time witnessed so severe a frost as that with which we are now beset. Yesterday morning, the ice in the suburbs half a mile in thickness remained for some time unthawed. Mount Wellington, a monarch of mountains, for some time since, has exhibited his ‘bright diadem of snow,’ indicating the severity of the winter within his wide domain, and have every prospect of some continuance of this fine bracing weather. It is to be hoped, however, that the crops are sufficiently advanced, and strong to bear the effects of the frost, which is not likely, we think, to continue with its present severity. We perceive, by reference to the Launceston paper, that the frost has been equally severe in the northern part of the island.”

PROSPERITY TO NEW SOUTH WALES UNDER RESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENT.

The CHIEF MINISTER in proposing the next toast of the day, "Prosperity to New South Wales under Responsible Government," said, that owing to a pressure for time, he felt it necessary to curtail one-half of what he had to say on this noble occasion; but the toast itself expressed nearly all that it was necessary to say. With regard to the Home Government, by whom the boon had been granted, the colonists felt deeply the wisdom of the measures which the Imperial authorities manifested in reference to the colonies, and he felt assured, that for very many years the New Constitution would be found to benefit the colony. (Cheers.) The admirable conduct of the home Government in the matter was suggestive of a fact which ought never to be lost sight of by those to whose hands was entrusted the work of developing the measure, namely, that the Imperial authorities had left no stone unturned in their efforts to construct its details. (Cheers.) This fact did the highest honour to those who conceded the privilege; and the boon was to be valued in the largest degree. Every Englishman, it might be said, was born a politician. That had been the bent of our countrymen from time immemorial, and that appeared to form the groundwork of their liberties from the earliest period. (Cheers.) If they wished, then, to enjoy the benefits of this measure, they had only to follow the example of our Court, the great talent and learning of the Australian bar, and the intelligence and right-mindedness of Juries, I mean not to arrogate to myself, and I attribute no more than what is just to others, in avowing my belief, and why should I be ashamed to express it—clad in the part of the Queen's dominions is justice more faithfully administered than in New South Wales. (Applause.) Sir, it is a great pleasure to me to present to you this measure, this measure of responsible government, with my brethren, I repeat, and re-pudiate that a judge ought to be isolated from his fellow citizens. (Cheers.) To me it appears, on the contrary, that it may desirably mingle with them, and as one of them—becoming acquainted with their wants, their habits, their opinions, their habits, and that he is likely to be the worst of them all, delighted with our golden clime, and enriched with our golden flocks; and our golden ore, may take root in the land in which they have prospered, and transmit the rewards of their toil to their inheritance to their children here. (Cheers.) Be this as it may—present or absent—whether cheering the land that bears us, or that of our adoption, we will rally round our home to a greater pride, and happy is our country to be in the possession of a people so pre-eminent among the nations. (Cheers.) The hon. gentleman then concluded by requesting that the toast be drunk with all the honours. (Applause.)

The toast was drunk with three times three.

Air—"Australian Anthem."

The CHIEF MINISTER (Mr. Donaldson), rose to respond. He was enthusiastically cheered, which lasted for some minutes, and, when the applause had subsided, said: "A host of men in these score years and ten, an age of the colony, were yet boys; but who, among the onward friends and fell companions, hear me, remembering its early days, could have been born in that month of gloom—the blackfellow, and by the indigent creatures of the country, could within so short a period of time, have been the author of scenes such as this?—(cheers)—surrounded as we are by the interests of wealth, happiness, and prosperity, accompanied by all the attributes of a highly advanced state of civilization." (Applause.)

If we look below us, on this brilliant entertainment, what could the world produce more elegant than the banquet which we have enjoyed? (Cheers.) If we look above at that galaxy of beauty—(cheers)—at that halo of light which, like the double ring around the planet Saturn, encircles two stories high—(cheers) who could have dreamt, eighty-nine years ago, of such an assemblage as this? (Applause.)

We are now met at the festive board to celebrate the introduction of Responsible Government—of that form of Government which has been the aim and object of every man of intelligence and weight in the colony for the last thirty years. (Cheers.) Of the contrasts just drawn between the physical condition of the colony now, and then, are striking and curious, not less interesting is the comparison between the venerable antiquity of the institution of self-government, and the young and ardent spirits of this youthful and noble country, who are met here to-night to celebrate its inauguration. (Cheers.)

The CHIEF MINISTER proposed: "The President and members of the Legislative Council: the Speaker and members of the Legislative Assembly." He preferred giving the toast to the Parliament of New South Wales, "I do not allude only to that body of gentlemen whose hands the popular voice has given for the present, placed the ruins of power; but I say that it has been the guiding star of all men of intelligence, of all parties, and of all opinions." (Cheers.) The time, too, is so recent, that may well remember the commencement of the movement which has proved so far-sighted, who now share in the triumph of its completion. (Applause.) Well, if we allow imagination to have its way, when we consider these things, and look back—when we consider the past, the best and highest interest of the colony. (Applause.)

THE PARLIAMENT OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

The VICE-PRESIDENT proposed: "The President and members of the Legislative Council: the Speaker and members of the Legislative Assembly." He preferred giving the toast to the Parliament of New South Wales. (Cheers.) He observed: The Constitution of this colony is as nearly assimilated to that of England as circumstances will admit of, and I think that is a matter of great congratulation to us all. (Applause.) The electors having done their duty, not the least satisfactory feature of the present assembly is, that men of all political opinions have equally well taken up a quiet, aside party feeling, in order to celebrate the advent of responsible government. (Continued cheering.) When I look to the blood and treasure our "new Constitution" cost not very many years ago, it is a matter of still greater congratulation that we have so peacefully been blessed by the Constitution we now possess. (Applause.)

"—Mr. Speaker, though it's late."

Sir AARON STEPHEN rose small loud cheers to respond to the toast. He said I am ashamed so soon again to present myself to you; but, on behalf of the Legislative Council, the privilege and the duty devolve on me, of acknowledging our share in the toast, to which you have just done honour. (Cheers.) The toast, as I apprehend, gentlemen, apart from the compliment to ourselves which the course of the evening has so far given, is that of the nobility, and the aristocracy which distinguish the most eminent and successful men at home. It is, therefore, that the character of our fellow-countrymen at home, in its most admirable features is nowhere more faithfully represented than in the success which has crowned the enterprise of those who have settled on the shores and sought the pastoral plains of Australia. (Cheers.) And whilst we are proud of our native land, it may be permitted us to say that our Fatherland has some reason to be proud of us—cheers—the noblest feature of our character is to be found in the spirit of England. We illustrate the truth of this great patriotic doctrine, that the spirit of a country that emigrates. The shepherd-kings and merchant princes who we have sent home, and the many more of the same class who remain amongst us, attest that they have come hither not to belong to the idle or indolent classes of society at home. (Applause.) They transplanted here the best abilities and the growth of our country truly the most wonderful, and we are the heirs of all that is at this late hour. (Cheers.) I allude to that of maritime and commercial enterprise. (Applause.) And I am the more anxious to express my thanks to you for the honour done by the toast, will hasten to express his concurrence in the opinion conveyed by it. (Cheers.) With the particular constitution of the Council, as one of those two Houses, we have I am happy to think, nothing to do this evening. We gladly accept the compliment, and I hope it will be well received, that as a principle, and not from other causes, we may not think it susceptible of improvement. (Cheers.) One pledge, however, will we give; that Mr. B. says, America in his day only served for us, it was not for us to suffer a Polynesian war we shall not want to do so. (Applause.)

He then recited the Spanish and American wars, and the Athenians of this Sydney—God forbid it for I hope our intercolonial interests will be so identified by our roads of iron, and our links and chains of gold; that no difference can possibly arise between us;—but I say, it is a matter of great congratulation that we have not suffered a Polynesian war we shall not want to do so. He is a horse of immense power, stands 16 hands high, and though lame in his left hind foot in May, is now in very fine condition. His colour is a rich, dark bay, with white, with jet black points; his symmetry is perfect, and there is no doubt that his stock will ultimately prove him to be one of the best selections yet made to suit colonial breeding.

"British," a pure-bred Suffolk cart stallion, 6 years old, 16 hands 2 inches high; colour, a beautiful red chestnut. His dam, an exceedingly good mare, that celebrated horse "Boxer," late the property of Mr. Catlin, sold to the proprietor of Mr. Moore, for £3000; his sire, "Sampson," late the property of Mr. Easton of Bognor Regis, and is now here, per Culverin, in February last. He has immense power, is very compact, and considered by all judges to be the best of his breed, and will be a valuable addition to the stock.

The requirements for stock of the description these horses would get, is also fully multiplying; prices are advanced, and there is little doubt but that the breeding of first-class horses will for many years to come be the most profitable avocation in New South Wales, more especially when such a breed as "Sleight-of-hand, Jun," and "British," can be obtained.

MERCANTILE AND MONEY ARTICLE.

Friday Evening. The amount of gold issued by the Sydney Branch of the Royal Mint, during the week ended (to-day) July 16th, has been 20,000 sovereigns.

The amount of gold dust imported into the same establishment during the week for the purpose of coinage, has been 2242 ounces. Of this quantity, 560 ounces has been received from the Rocky River diggings.

The Western Escort arrived this morning at the Colonial Treasury, and delivered the following quantities of gold dust:—From Bathurst, 15 ozs. 12 dwt.; Sofala, 255 ozs. 3 dwt.; Tambaroora, 183 ounces 7 dwt.; Asiford, 582 ounces 3 dwt.; Louisa Creek, 8 ounces. Total, 995 ounces 5 dwt.

The quantity of gold sent down during the week through the post was not so large as in preceding weeks, owing mainly, it is thought, to the stoppage of the mails by the recent wet weather.

The amount yesterday received by the post was only about 20 ounces, but we are informed that one or two parcels of considerable bulk arrived by private hand. To give some idea of the amount conveyed by the mail alone, we remark that the average for some time past has been found to range about 2000 ounces per quarter, but in consequence of the impulse recently imparted to our gold-fields there can hardly be a shadow of a doubt that the average will be vastly increased in future.

Messrs. Mort and Co. sold to-day by auction two allotments on the South Head Road, opposite the Military Barracks, 36 feet frontage by 67 feet deep, at £6 per foot; a two-story brick built house, No. 51, Burton-street, South Head Road, for £380; two veranda cottages in Duke-street, Woolloomooloo, at £670 each; and a block of property situated in Pitt-street, between Park and Bathurst streets, together with the buildings erected thereon and now occupied by Messrs. Thomas and Mackay, for £2550, or nearly at the rate of £64 per foot.

The same firm also sold privately a block of land in O'Connell-street, for £1200, or at the rate of £40 per foot; and a two-story brick built house in O'Connell-street, Newtown, for £360. The total amount of sales effected to-day was £5416.

Messrs. Cohen and Harbottle sold to-day an assortment of English furniture, at satisfactory rates.

The share market continues active. The amount of money laying idle, the paucity of stock, and the high prices of colonial securities in London, have caused an increased rise in Bank Shares and other dividend-paying companies this week. Bank of New South Wales Shares have been sold at £38 per share, or 90 per cent premium, and Commercial Bank shares at £45 per share cum dividend, or 80 per cent. premium. Australasian Steam Shares are quoted £12 per share; but we have not heard of any sales having been effected at that price.

Debentures have also improved, and are worth 97 to 100, according to their currency.

LIQUORS.—The market is firm, and there has been a slight improvement in brandy this week. Martell's is now quoted at 13s. 9d. to 14s. 1d.; geneva, 18s. to 19s.; and rum, 30 s. p., 5s. 6d. per gallon. Good wines are in demand. Port has been sold by auction this week at 10s. 4d. per gallon.

Flour has risen this week, £1 per ton, and some heavy transactions have taken place. Fine flour, £24 per ton; seconds, £22 per ton; wheat, 8s. 9d. per bushel.

DRAPERY.—The market is still overstocked, but as few large shipments are now expected, a reaction will doubtless soon take place.

In GROCERIES, we have this week to notice an evident improvement in the state of trade, which may be attributed to the very general impression that fresh discoveries of a valuable character are likely to be made in our various mining districts, which will give an impetus to emigration—an additional value to goods, and a considerable increase in business generally. At auction the bidding has been more spirited, and better prices have been obtained, both for damaged and sound goods than has been noticed for some time.

COFFEE.—A parcel of 20 tons per Sea Bird from Manila, is the only arrival we have had for four months, and very little is expected in consequence of the continued high price in Manila. Holders are firm at 10d., with a very limited stock.

CANDLES are offered at lower rates, but as shipments are small, prices may improve.

TEAS.—Several large parcels of slightly broken packages have been sold during the week, showing better results. The quality of the tea was, however, very good, and well suited for retail trade.

SUGARS.—Prices remain as quoted last week, with a good demand for both raw and refined. The Sugar Company's quotations are as follows:—Loaf and snowdrops, £52; crystals, £45 to £47; pieces, £43; treacle, £20; Pampanga, £28 10s. to £29 10s.; yellow Mauritius, £25 to £24; light brown Java, £33 to £35. W. I. rum, 30 s. p., 5s. 6d.; 10 s. p., 4s. 6d.; colonial (dry paid), 1s. 6d.; 10 s. p., 4s. 6d.; white spirit, 50 s. p., 17s. 6d. (duty paid).

The following Trade Report is taken from the Times of the 3rd May:—

SUGAR.—The various public sales to-day have gone off with spirit. Nearly the whole put up was disposed of; the better descriptions of Mauritius at rather more money, the middling sorts being still offered at the same price. The market is not yet in a position to give any advance, except in some instances, viz.—Grocery and good bright crystallized Mauritius—1s. 6d. to 1s. 10d.; large Bengal good middling to good Bengal, 4s. 6d.; 4s. 6d. to 4s. 10d.; 4s. 10d. to 4s. 12d.; 4s. 12d. to 4s. 14d.; 4s. 14d. to 4s. 16d.; 4s. 16d. to 4s. 18d.; 4s. 18d. to 4s. 20d.; 4s. 20d. to 4s. 22d.; 4s. 22d. to 4s. 24d.; 4s. 24d. to 4s. 26d.; 4s. 26d. to 4s. 28d.;
